

Airl radio stations have been a huge blessing in my life over the past ten years or so. They have provided wonderful encouragement when I needed it most, and it has led to a better outlook on life. They have provided insights on life that remind me what is really important, and have deepened my relationship with God.

I feel that if you force Airl off the air by giving favor to LPFM it will hurt the community around me by negatively affecting the moral compass of our society. By taking away such a positive influence, an influence which has literally saved lives, it will leave a gaping moral void, which could be filled by other, less positive models. It is difficult enough to find solid, morally sound music. Please don't take away the only station in this area that meets this need.
